

CASUAL DAY

Friday 7/9/2007

On Friday, 7 September, the Foschini Group supported the annual Casual Day initiative by buying R10 000 worth of Casual Day stickers from the Bel Porto School for the Disabled.

Casual Day is South Africa's foremost fundraising event of this nature and raises more than just money. It raises awareness and transparency about persons with disabilities, opportunities for corporate comradeship, community support and welfare organization participation.

The Bel Porto School educates and transports two hundred and thirty five children of all races, genders, cultures and religious backgrounds, ranging from three to eighteen years old who are mentally and/or physically challenged, most of whom are from historically disadvantaged and neglected communities.

The stickers were handed out to staff on the day at all our H.O buildings on a first come, first served basis, thereafter the volunteers from the Bel Porto School sold tickets. Generous staff bought additional tickets or made donations in cash. An additional R2 500 was raised and added to the money donated by Group CSI.
